Yester Love

Smokey Robinson & The Miracles

Ooo, Ooo, Ooo, Yesterday we made future plans She loved me I could tell Can today be that tomorrow that we planned so well?Yester baby I'll never forget her Though tomorrow might bring me one better Today I'll be on my away to love my yester love Today I'll go on my way to love my yester love oh ohYesterday I felt a tender kiss upon my face Now the day is gone and there's a tear drop in it's placeOh yester kisses that I used to treasure Now you're given some other lips pleasureToday I'm on my way dreamin of my yester love Today I'll go on my way dreamin of my yester love, ohYester is, the prefix, that we fix, to things that have gone by Forever they say, yeah even though my yester love Has slipped through my fingers I find it still lingers In my heart today-ay-ayYesterday I thought I had a love to call my own No one could have told me that today I'd be alone Oh oh yes the sweetness today has gone sour Seemin further away with each hour Today I'll go on my way dreamin of all my yester love Today I'll go on my way dreamin of my yester love Today I'll go on my way dreamin of my yester love ...
