

Before

Pet Shop Boys

The telephone's not answered
So many times you'll call For many different reasons so many tears will fall before you find your love
before it comes knocking at your door
before you know for sure this is what you were waiting for So many fears will haunt you deny them or regret Some men will make you want to and you will not forget
before you find your love
before you know for sure
There's a story of a man who loved too much He ended up inside a prison cell You've got to want to give to get it or you could land up in the same suspicious hell It's happened before
It's happened before
Coincidence and patience will mend this fatal flaw Though it may seem a long wait others have been here
before you find your love
One day when the phone starts ringing you'll answer to the words you're longing for No tears, no trade, no prison cell Whatever you need, he will return more
It's happened before
It's happened before
