The Story So Far

Flogging Molly

You always had what you wanted So leave it behind And if the glass isn't broken Then the future's not blindAll that you know Means nothing to you But it's the loss of control Shatters the truthCause the story so far is already here We've made it this far through the daggered-edge spears But life cuts to pieces till the wounds hold no secrets Makes it all who you areLove craves self destruction It's a blizzard in hand You lay your cards on the table But you're not in command So burn with the fire You so eagerly lit Watch the flames flicker higher Say I don't care about meCause the story so far is already here We've made it this far through the daggered-edge spears But life cuts to pieces till the wounds hold no secrets Makes it all who you are Though it's bitter, the pill That you swallow to feel I don't care what I lost I just thank God I'm alive Makes it all who you are Makes it all who you are

Lyrics provided by https://www.omusic.in/

Makes it all who you are Makes it all who you are That's the story so far