

No One Can Save You

Elle King

Don't try to say sorry
Don't try to say anything
I gave you my everything
And you threw it all away, away And I try to build you up
But you just fall, you just fall
And I can't save you no more, no I can't save you from yourself
No one can save you, no one can save you from yourself I call for you but you never come
You broke me up and just left me undone
You showed me who I can't be
So you enjoy a life of lonely misery
And I try to build you up
But you just fall, you just fall
And I can't save you no more, no I can't save you from yourself
No one can save you, no one can save you from yourself
No one can save you, no one can save you from yourself
