Lorca

Tim Buckley

Let the sun sing in your smile Let the wind hold your desire Let your womans voice run through your veins Let her be your blood don't feel ashamedShe's your home when no one wants you She'll give you life when you're so tired She'll ease your fears ah when you're a stranger She's born to give faith to you Oh, just to youYou're just a man on death's highways It's life you owe you're here to praise it If love flows your way then be a river And when it dries just stand there and shiver Oh, let the sun sing in your smile Let the wind hold your desire And let your womans voice run through your veins Let her be your blood don't feel ashamed It's her life you owe I owe you love

Lyrics provided by https://www.omusic.in/