

Dancin' in the Rain (feat. Warren Haynes)

Black Stone Cherry

From way up high, straight down to the bottom
Some folks get loud, some get forgotten
When you're so high, the sun won't shine
Shine a light for the search on my bright light Every little thing's gonna be all right
Did everything you can to get it off your mind
I need a reason, need something new to believe in now
I want to love, can you show me?
Everything you do to resolve your mind
Did everything you can Lord, to make it right
I got a reason, got something new to believe in now
I killed the pain, dancing in the rain A broken man is a ticking time-bomb
A broken heart is a full-blown cyclone
Back and forth, you're south now north
Take me back to how it was before
Every little thing's gonna be all right
Did everything you can to get it off your mind
I got a reason, got something new to believe in now
I want to love, can you show me?
Everything you do to resolve your mind
Did everything you can Lord, to make it right
I got a reason, got something new to believe in now
I killed the pain, dancing in the rain Every little thing is gonna be all right
Do everything you can to get it off your mind
I need a reason, need something new to believe in now
I wanna love Every little thing is gonna be all right (I wanna love)
do everything you can to get it off your mind
I need a reason, need something new to believe in now
I wanna love, can you show me?
Everything you do to resolve your mind
Do everything you can Lord, to make it right
I got a reason, got something new to believe in now
Killed the pain, dancing in the rain

Lyrics provided by <https://www.omusic.in/>