

Changing

Becky Hill

Circles start then have no end
I chase my tail to who knows where, I don't know
Cause I got my hands out in the dark, trying to talk to God
Wondering if she forgot I'm here, I'm feeling scared
Questions everywhere, everybody wants an answer Who knows what is wrong or right, wish I could see it all clearer
And I don't even recognise whose staring back in the mirror Cause I'm still holding on to my mistakes
Walls are closing in, I have no space
Funny that I'm stuck in my old ways
While everything's changing
I'm still waking up when night begins
Need to wash away all of my sin
Finding out I'm so hard to convince while everything's changing
While everything's changing, while everything's changing
While everything's changing, while everything's changing The ground moves underneath my feet
Stumble and fall, I feel defeat, I can't go
Because I got my hands out in the dark, trying to talk to God
Wondering if she forgot I'm here, I'm feeling scared
Questions everywhere, everybody wants an answer
Who knows what is wrong or right, wish I could see it all clearer
And I don't even recognise whose staring back in the mirror
Cause I'm still holding on to my mistakes
Walls are closing in, I have no space
Funny that I'm stuck in my old ways
While everything's changing
I'm still waking up when night begins
Need to wash away all of my sin
Finding out I'm so hard to convince while everything's changing
While everything's changing, while everything's changing
While everything's changing, while everything's changing
While everything's changing, while everything's changing
