

Sunrise In The East

Becky Hill

Couple more minutes, couple more hours
This conversation
Tell me your secrets, tell me your powers
Can we be patient?
It's getting late, but what does it matter?
We can just lay here
We can just stay here I know that there's doubts, still they run through your mind
Then why don't we put 'em to bed tonight?
I fall into your honesty
So we talk until the sunrise in the east
I'm hanging on to every single word that you say
Tell me how you're happy, tell me why you're afraid
We can build our trust beneath the sheets
Talk until the sunrise in the east
I'm hanging on to every single word that you say
Now we got each other, hope it's always this way
We can build our trust beneath the sheets
Talk until the sunrise in the east The curtains don't open until the evening, never time wasted
Sunlight can wait when it's you I'm facing
Can we be safe here?
Gone are the days when I can be vacant
Now that we've made it
Let us be sacred
Just let go of insecurity
You'll never know
You're always more to me
I fall into your honesty So we can talk until the sunrise in the east
I'm hanging on to every single word that you say
Now we got each other, hope it's always this way
We can build our trust beneath the sheets
Talk until the sunrise in the east
'Cause we talk until the sunrise in the east
I'm hanging on to every single word that you say
Tell me how you're happy, tell me why you're afraid
We can build our trust beneath the sheets (sheets)
Talk until the sunrise in the east
I'm hanging on to every single word that you say
Now we got each other, hope it's always this way
We can build our trust beneath the sheets
Talk until the sunrise in the east
Talk until the sunrise in the east
